Data Protection

City Life Church follows the regulations set out in the Data Protection Act 2018 (<http://www.legislation.gov.uk/ukpga/2018/12/contents/enacted>). We aim to take every possible measure to protect your information at all times. You can view the comprehensive City Life Church privacy policy at www.citylife.org.uk/privacy-policy.

City Life Church collects and processes personal information and special category data in order to carry out its contractual obligations. It may be necessary at times to share personal data with third parties to carry out these obligations.

All data will be securely held for a minimum of 50 years for successful applicants, and 6 months to a year for unsuccessful applicants. Access will be limited to those who need it to carry out their roles in relation to this position.

City Life Church is subject to legal obligations to share personal data in circumstances but only where the law requires us to. City Life is also required to share such data upon receipt of a valid request for information, e.g. providing information in response to a court order.

Under the General Data Protection Regulation 2018 (GDPR) you have a number of rights with regard to your personal data. You have the right to request from us access to and rectification or erasure of your personal data, the right to restrict processing, object to processing as well as in certain circumstances the right to data portability.

You also have the right to lodge a complaint to the Information Commissioners' Office if you believe that we have not complied with the requirements of the GDPR with regard to your personal data.
